

JOURNAL OF POLITICAL ECONOMY

UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO

1126 EAST 59TH STREET

CHICAGO · ILLINOIS 60637

Office of the Editor

(312) 962-8421

January 22, 1986

Professor Amyra Grossbard-Schechtman
Department of Economics
San Diego University
San Diego, CA 92182

Dear Amyra:

I have now received the enclosed referee reports on your paper, "A Theory of Female Labor Supply and Marital Choice." I agree with the referees that the paper is not publishable in its current form. We would, however, be willing to consider a short (10 page) note, as suggested by the shorter referee, on the interaction between sorting in the marriage market and labor supply and other decisions. Because this revision would involve so much work, we are unable to promise eventual publication at this time. We would treat it as a new submission, which would require an additional $40 fee.

Sincerely,

James J. Heckman all.

James J. Heckman
Editor

JJH/all encl.